ABSTRACT

Approximately 84 reference materials on economics located in the McLennan Library, McGill University (Montreal), are cited in this annotated bibliography. The bibliography serves to provide an overview of the printed bibliographic and reference sources useful for the study of economics. Financial and business sources and statistical compendia and reference tools with limited geographical and subject coverage have been omitted. Library of Congress call numbers are included; the majority of the publications were published in the last ten years. Listings are categorized according to type of material. Part I lists general reference tools. Part II lists statistical reference tools, including statistical handbooks, guides to statistical information, statistical compendia, and historical statistics. Part III lists bibliographic sources on economics in general, history of economic thought, econometrics and economic forecasting, international economic relations, economic development of developing countries, regional and urban economics, labor economics, finance and monetary theory, public finance, and dissertations and research. Economics: A Guide to Reference Sources

This guide is designed to give an overview of the printed bibliographic and reference sources useful for the study of economics found in McLennan Library. Financial and business sources, statistical compendia with limited geographical and subject coverage, and sources for Canadian economics have been excluded; for the latter, consult the guide prepared by McLennan Reference: Canadian Economics. Reference tools with very limited subject or geographical coverage have also been omitted. To find specialised bibliographies in the collection the subject catalogues should be consulted. Bibliographies or books on the economics of a particular country or geographic region can be found by looking under the geographic area:

- e.g. EAST AFRICA - ECONOMIC CONDITIONS - BIBLIOGRAPHY
- ASIA - ECONOMIC CONDITIONS - BIBLIOGRAPHY

Similarly, specific economic topics can be searched for in the subject catalogues:

- e.g. INVESTMENTS, FOREIGN
- INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS ENTERPRISES

For precise terminology used in the L.C. subject catalogues, consult the thesaurus L.C. Subject Headings found in microform at the Reference Desk.

The academic discipline of economics still relies heavily on printed materials, though increasingly there are bibliographic and numeric databases in existence designed to provide up-to-the minute financial and economic information. Where these databases correspond to printed bibliographies cited in this Guide, you will find an asterisk(*) next to the title and a note in the annotation. Enquiries about additional databases can be made at the Reference Desk in McLennan Library or in the Management Library.

The majority of the publications selected for this Guide were published in the last ten years. The bibliographies in International Economic Relations (III. D.) and Economic Development (III. E.) are very closely related, and both sections include bibliographies of use in the study of the role of multinational corporations and the sphere of international finance.

Government Documents

Many statistical publications of interest to economists are produced by government agencies and international organisations. This guide only mentions some of the major compilations which are international in scope. The Government Documents Department in McLennan Library has many more statistical publications and indexes in its collection. Attention is drawn in particular to their guide: Canadian Statistics: A Guide to Sources of Information and to the index to U.S. Government statistical publications, American Statistics Index. Microfiche copies of all the documents indexed in the latter are received by the National Library in Ottawa and are available through interlibrary loans.

The Howard Ross Management Library

This library concerns itself with materials for the study of corporations, business, industry, industrial relations etc., and has a wide range of bibliographic and information sources in its collection. In addition the Library has prepared a series of very useful guides to information sources. It owns a series of annual reports of approximately 5,000 Canadian corporations which are registered with the Canadian Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs. Most of the reports are in microfiche format and can be consulted in the library.

If you have any difficulty using this guide or the reference sources listed in it, please do not hesitate to ask for assistance from a reference librarian.

This guide was compiled by Mary Mason, Reference Department, McLennan Library.

I. GENERAL REFERENCE TOOLS

- HB1 American Economic Association. "Directory of Members," American Economic Review, v.64,
E26 1974-
McLen Lib. has: v.1, 1911-

The directory currently appears as issue no. 6 in each volume of the journal. Lists members' educational background, and current research interests. Also lists members by broad field of specialisation and by institutional affiliation. Previously published as the American Economic Association Handbook (HB1 .H35 McLen).

- HB61 Encyclopedia of Economics. New York, McGraw Hill, 1982.
E55
Ref
UL

Comprises mid-length articles written by experts, on 310 topics in the field of economics and economic theory, broadly interpreted to include some econometric and statistical concepts. Each article has a short list of recent publications. Good cross references.

- H40 International Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences. New York, Macmillan, 1968-1979. 18v.
A215
Ref

A multi-volume encyclopedia with lengthy articles on broad topics, which stress the analytical and comparative aspects of the subjects, and provide bibliographies. Complements the older Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences (H41 .E6 1937 Ref.). The index volume contains classified and alphabetical lists of articles and a list of contributors. The few biographical entries included in the main sequence are supplemented in volume 18, Biographical Supplement, by detailed articles.
